Labels Will Aid Postal Service

The McKinney Post Office will deliver small red and white labels for Christmas use to every home in the city delivery service early next week.

Postmaster Don O. Davis requests labels be used in tieing together Christmas greeting cards for deposit in the McKinney Post Office or in the mail boxes around town.

The white label marked "All for Local Delivery" should be placed on top of bundles of Christmas greeting cards to be delivered in McKinney and on the McKinney rural routes.

The red label marked "All For Out of Town Delivery" should be placed on bundles of cards for delivery at any other post office.

Mr. Davis also requests that the letters in these bundles all be turned the same way with the stamps in line.

Light twine, sewing thread or rubber bands have proved very effective in the past in "bundling" these Christmas cards.

Mr. Davis says that he and his employees deeply appreviate the excellent response of McKinney people in the past in the fine coperation shown in preparing their Christmas mail before it is brought to the Post Office. This materially assists the Post Office during the heavy Christmas mailing season.

Mr. Davis also urges McKinney families to mail their Christmas packages and greeting cards early. Packages for distance points in the United States should be mailed in the first few days of December.

THE HOME TOWNERS
THE GREEN LIGHTS ARE ON IN McKINNEY AND COLLIN COUNTY

▶ MR. AND Mrs. J. O. Gunter, who reside three miles North of Weston, were in our office yesterday displaying a 8-pound stock beet that was raised on their farm. Said Mr. Gunter: "I have about 8 rows, 110 yards long and I get enough stock beets for my hogs and other livestock, including chickens. We moved on this 81 acres some 10 or 11 years ago and I have paid my farm out raising stock at very little cost. Also I raise peaches and had a good crop this year." Your Home Towners still say that it can be done, right here in good old Collin County—The Gunter's have proven this.

▶ THANKS FOR the money coming in for the Bess Largent Christmas Fund—Your Home Towners can truthfully say that you will never be sorry for your liberal contributions to a great little lady with a wonderful spirit and a determination to make other people happy.

▶ SOME TIME ago Your Home Towners suggested that a 'traffic signal' be placed near the Merritt Homes on North Tennessee Street. There are a lot of little children that have to cross this busy street and a traffic signal would give them a certain amount of protection that they should have. To save one little life is worth more than all the traffic signals in the world in Your Home Towners way of thinking.

Mrs. Moselle Allen, president of the McKinney Clothing Closet, expresses her appreciation to the people of McKinney for their wonderful response to a recent appeal for clothing. The project is for the school children of McKinney, and each year many boys and girls are kept in school, just by the benefits they receive from the Clothing Closet.

For the first time, the Closet is full, and another drive for winter clothing will not be necessary this year.

Ginnings In County Totals 16,767 Bales

Continued unfavorable weather conditions have resulted in again holding up the gathering of the cotton crop in the area the past two weeks and, during that period, only slightly more than 1100 bales have been ginned in the entire county.

Dennis Scott of the local Texas Employment Commission office, said Tuesday that at a total of 16,767 bales had been ginned by the county's 26 gins to date.

Farmers are extremely anxious to get the rest of the 1957 crop out of the way so that fields can be prepared fro spring planting and are faced with the problem of either hand-picking the remainder of the cotton or gathering it with machinery, The latter course is not to desirable however, because of the effect so many tractor and other machine wheels will have on the soft ground.

Total ginnings as reported through last week are as follows: Allen 300, Anna 265 (2), Blue Ridge 1,480 (2), Celina 1,062 (2), Farmersville 1,460 (2), Frisco 1,403 (2), Josephine 1,413 (2), Lavon 632, McKinney 1,467 (3), Melissa 654, Murphy 155, Nevada 1,804, Plano 517, Princeton, 1,366, Prosper 1,359 (2), Rhea's Mill 155, and Wylie 1,475.

County Gets Bond Money

Smith & Stovall, Dallas bonding company, paid off a bond forfeiture to Collin County over the weekend, in the amount of $1,850, according to County Attorney Dwight Whitwell. This amount is part payment of a $2500 bond forfeited by Thomas E. Pate, of Dallas, who had been indicted in Collin County for burglarizing the Plano school over a year ago. Pate's trial was set for September, 1956, but he failed to appear, and has not been located since.

This is one of the few bonds ever forfeited in Collin County, and the first forfeiture in a number of years.

A representative of the bonding company from Dallas brought the $1,850 check to County Attorney Whitwell, who turned it over to the District Clerk for payment to the county.

Admitting Policies At City-County Hospital Changed

W. S. Nichols, administrator of the City-County Hospital, announces change in admitting policies, beginning December 1:

"As we now admit patients to the hospital, any admittance constitutes one day. As much as four hours past twenty-four hours constitutes a day and a half, and as much as eight hours past twenty-four hours constitute two days. We desire to change this policy of admittance, for the following reasons:

1. Hospitalization Insurance Companies will not pay for split days of hospitalization.
2. Hospital Insurance Companies will not pay for two days when the two days constitute only thirty-two hours.
3. More than sixty percent of our total business is paid for by Hospital Insurance Companies.

"Beginning December 1, 1957, we will break our hospital day at midnight, and the patient will be charged for the day they enter the hospital and not charged for the day that they leave the hospital if they vacate by the time specified. All Patients discharged are requested to vacate their room by 2:00 p.m. each day.

"The new procedure as outlined above has been standard practice in more than ninety percent of all hospitals in America for many years, and will result in great benefit to patients of this hospital. We also wish to announce that we are adopting the standard hospital accounting system as recommended by the American Hospital Association, on the same date which will be accurate to the least detail and will enable our patients to better understand charges."

Motorists Asked Not To Use Private Driveways

Several complaints have been made to the Police Department concerning motorists using service stations and parking lots as a short cut to drive through, and turn around.

There is a state law concerning this violation, and Chief Jack Pike asks the cooperation of motorists in regard to same.

The driveways and parking lots belong to private firms, usually, and when a motorist drives through he is taking advantage of the owner of the business. Chief Pike also points to the danger of such practice, which can be quite unsafe.

If the complaints continue to come in Chief Pike states that violators will be filed on.

GSA Approves Plans For New Postoffice Here

A contemporary design, styled in the functional character of the modern Southwest, has been accepted by General Services Administration for the new United States Post Office in McKinney, Texas.

The design, approved today by the GSA Public Buildings Service, is the work of the architectural firm of Milam & Roper, of Dallas, Texas. At the same time, GSA released for publication the architect's rendering of the building.

Approved for lease purchase construction at an estimated overall cost of $480,000, the project calls for a basementless, two-story structure of brick and limestone trim to be built on a Government-owned site at Lamar and Kentucky Streets.

An outstanding feature of the design is the ceiling-height fixed windows set off by aluminum spandrels at the front of the building.

The air-conditioned building will provide about 14,500 square feet of net working space for the Post Office and field units of the Civil Service Commission and the Department of Agriculture.

Contractors Set For School Job

By H. D. MOUZON

With ground - breaking ceremonies out of the way and contractors busily engaged in the task of moving in equipment, erecting field offices and preparing for the actual start of construction McKinney's long-cherished dream of a modern and adequate high school building is about to become a reality.

Few people fully realize the vast amount of preliminary work and planning — spade work, so to speak—that must be done before a project of this sort can be started. Few there are who have any idea at all about the many long hours devoted to the task bzy members of the board of trustees and the superintendent — long hours spent in conferences with architects, planners, engineers and contractors—working out the multitude of minute details associated with such an undertaking.

More than a year and a half ago, when it became apparent that more adequate school facilities must be provided to care for an ever-increasing student load, the local school board employed an architectural firm, one specializing in schools, to make a survey of the situation here and to project the needs of McKinney schools into the future for the next ten to fifteen years. The survey, based on past, and present as well as anticipated future growth of the city as indicated by the number of water, gas and electric meters reported by utility companies and increases in school population, covered a period starting back in the early 1930's. Results of the vey were published in January of 1956.

Based on estimates of needs as revealed by the survey, a bond election was called at which time the tax payers of the school district approved the issuance of bonds, the proceeds of which were to be used for the construction of new facilities.

Prior to the calling of the election, however, the board employed a fiscal agent, an expert in the field of bonds and elections, whose job it was to draw up proper forms for calling the election, print the bonds, advertise for bids to purchase the bonds, take bids, sell the bonds and secure approval of the bond issue by the State's attorney general.

After the people had approved the bond issue the architect started work on plans and specifications for a new high school building in accordance with the needs as revealed in the aforementioned survey.

It is interesting to note that final plans include 51 sheets of blue prints and two volumns of specifications containing at least 200 mimeographed pages. Preliminary overall plans were submitted to the board and approved after certain suggested changes and then the plans were taken to high school teachers for their suggestions as to the arrangement of rooms, type of equipment, etc. Every teacher had a part in final plans for their new building. Four months were required to draw plans after bonds had been voted on March 9.

Next, the school board sold the bonds on sealed bids and asked for bids froc contractors on the building. Bids were accepted five weeks after plans were completed, the bids were opened and contracts awarded to the successful bidder who then needed approximately two weeks to move in his equipment and start actual construction.

Each of the above described steps toward the start of a new school building program is required by law with the exception of two — the preliminary survey and the request for suggestions from membeds of the faculty.

Bonds approved last spring by McKinney School District voters were sold on November 4 and the district will receive the money provided by the bonds early in December. A sufficient amount of this money to meet imediate requirements will be placed in what is known as an operating fund and the balance will be invested in U.S. Government bonds where it will draw interest until needed. Income from this source is estimated at about $12,000 to $15,000.

Before settling on a site for the new building the board selected possible sites in every section of the city where land was available; secured approximate prices on each site, in cases where owners were willing to sell, and had an architect make an estimate of the cost of preparing each proposed site for building. Also taken into consideration was the direction of growth of the town. The matter preparing a site for the building and campus was of utmost importance as revealed by the fact the estimated cost of preparation of one site under consideration equalled that of the land itself.

Supt. Hailds Pearce and members of the McKinney Independent School District Board of Trustees have spent many, many long hours in bringing the local school-building program to its present status. And they have many long hours of work ahead before the job will be completed.

Plano Band To March In Santa Parade Friday

Kiddies of McKinney and Collin County are anxiously awaiting Friday afternoon when Santa Claus will make his first visit to McKinney for the holiday season. Brought here by Foremost Dairies and Minyard's food store, the patron saint will circle the city in a helicopter, after which he will land, and then be escorted to his sleigh, which will be featured in the Christmas parade at 4 p.m.

McKinney Retail Merchants, sponsoring this year's holiday program, have named Dwayne Howell as general chairman for the Friday afternoon event.

Street decorations were placed in the down town area over the week-end, and merchants are getting their stores, and offices all dressed up in holiday attire this week, in readiness for the official opening of the Christmas season here Friday.

E. A. Randles and Geldon Roberts are co-chairman for a big parade, which will circle the square Friday afternoon. Participating in the parade will be McKinney school bands, the Plano High School band, and Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scout units.

Plano, first place winner in the district, for music and marching, will put on an exhibition for Santa as the parade closes. The band is gaining a reputation for its performance, and just recently won the tri-state (Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas) sweepstakes in the Smith, Ark., contest. It was first in parade and music.

Miss Linda Haggard, drum major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Haggard of Plano. She was first in the drum major's contest. Emmett S. Clem is band director and E. A. Sigler is superintendent of the Plano schools.

Jaycee Xmas Tree Sale To Open Saturday

McKinney Jaycees will open their annual Christmas tree sale Saturday noon, December 7, announces President Felix Smith. The trees and stands will be located at the City Coliseum, where the toy workshop will also be located this year.

Proceeds from the tree sale will be used by the Jaycees in their annual Christmas program of toys for underprivileged boys and girls in the McKinney area. Each year hundreds of kiddies receive gifts on Christmas Eve as a result of this project, who otherwise would be missed by Old St. Nick.

President Smith announces Bill Sportsman will be general chairman of the toy round up. Within a few days a booth will be erected outside the coliseum building, where the toys may be deposited.

Other chairmen working on this Christmas project are Pete Murphy toy chairman, and Jimmy Gantt, tree chairman. A list of workers, and foremen, will be announced next week.

Kiddies are asked to get their broken toys together, so that they will be ready for the Jaycees to pickup within a few days.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

Donald Walters, who farms east of Anna, has planted about 35 acres of Austrian Winter Peas for soil improvement. He expects to turn under the peas in the spring and plant cotton on this land. By using a District-owned planter, Walters deep-placed his fertilizer and planted peas on both sides of the beds all in one operation. This "Harber Method" of planting winter cover crops, has been more widely used in Central Texas and to some extent in the Collin Soil Conservation District.

Raymond Dalton, west of Rhea Mills, has shaped two waterways recently. A good seedbed is being prepared and Coastal Bermuda-grass will be sodded in these areas in early spring. Dalton also plans to establish some adjoining pasture land to Coastal Bermuda.

Alfalfa planting is being used by a number of cooperators as a rotation-hay and pasture practice. This crop is highly valued by many farmers for both hay and grazing. Also, its soil conditioning ability is equal to any other deep-rooted legume. Among those who have planted Alfalfa this fall are A. E. McGraw and R. M. Ernst, south-east of McKinney, L. V. Cole at Rhea Mills and Paul Worden, east of Alla Hubbard.

The winter months are probably the best time of the year for a landowner to plan out his soil and water conservation program. Not only is this the period when a new business year begins, but many conservation practices are normally started in late winter or early spring. If waterways are needed for safe terrace outlets, they should be located and a seedbed prepared during the winter. This will make it possible for grass to be planted in February or March. Hubam and Madrid colvers are also planted at this time. Pasture planting is usually done in early spring. Some terracing may be done in winter where outlets are ready.

Any landowner can get help in developing a conservation plan on his farm by merely contacting Soil Conservation Service technicians. A conservation plan is simply a record of the landowner's intentions to use his land according to its capabilities, and to treat it according to its needs. A farmer can best plan his land use by using a soils map as a guide. A soil may will show the capabilities of the land, since soil type, slope, and erosion are all indicated on it by areas.

Cotton Vote Is Set For December 10

Cotton growers will make an important decision on Tuesday, December 10, 1957, Clarence R. Hillis, Chairman of the Collin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers.

On that day, growers will vote in a referendum to decide whether marketing quotas will be in effect for their 1958 upland cotton crop. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1957 will be eligible to vote in the referendum. Texas being a community property state, the wife is also eligible to vote.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve the quotas, marketing quotas will be in effect on all farms growing upland cotton in 1958, penalties will apply on "excess" cotton, and price supports to those growers who comply with their cotton acreage allotments will be available at the full level of effective supports. Under current legislation, this support will be between 75 and 90 percent of parity, the minimum level within this range depending upon the supply situation at the time the determination is made.

If more than one-third of the growers disapprove quotas, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, and price supports to eligible growers who comply with their allotments will be available at 50 percent of parity.

In either case, acreage allotments will continue in effect for the 1958 cotton crop as a means of determining eligibility for price support.

The Chairman pointed out that legislation directs the Secretary of Agriculture to proclaim marketing quotas for the next upland cotton crop when the cotton supply exceeds normal. Quotas are not put into operation, however, unless they are approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum on the question.

The referendum will be held between the hours of 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Tuesday, December 10, at the following polling places:

Allen Community will vote at City Hall, Allen, Texas.

Anna Community will vote at Powell Grain Co. Office, Anna.

McKinney Man With Naval Fleet In Mediterranean Area

The Albany Sea Breeze, published aboard the USS Albany, carried in the October issue, a picture and news article concerning a McKinney boy, Ensign Fred Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Currie of 1807 Bonner Street, McKinney. Ensign Currie is attached to the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, having visited several ports.

The article, as it appeared in the ship's publication, is as follows:

"By far one of the more familiar faces in the engineering department is that of Ensign Fred Currie. Beside being Easy Division Officer, he is also Movie Officer and the Electrical Officer.

"Hailing from a small town named McKinney, deep in the heart of Texas, Mr. Currie came to the Albany in early '57, after graduating OCS. He is also a graduate of Texas Tech College, where he majored in Business Administration. He worked for Pan Am Oil company for fourteen months before entering the service.

Always ready with a quick smile, Mr. Currie looks forward to seeing the countries we are going to on this Mediterranean cruise, as he explains 'It'll be nice to see what the other parts of Texas looks like.' Up to now, he favors his visit to Santiago, Chile, as the best liberty he's had in a foreign country.

"Leaving no doubt about his Texan humor, Currie will be happy to tell you about the other 47 states. He is impressed with the way that Albany men do their jobs, and the ever present 'can do' spirit."

Disabled Veterans May Apply For Higher Compensation

Veterans disabled while performing extra-hazardous duty in service during peacetime may be eligible for the higher wartime rate of compensation for service-connected disabilities.

Mr. Scott B. Harrington, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Dallas, Texas, isuued the statement today in answer to numerous inquiries.

Otherwise, he said, compensation for a service-connected disability incurred during peacetime is 80 percent of the rate paid for the same disability suffered during war time.

Under the law, the higher rate is payable for a peacetime disability incurred in "extra-hazardous service, including such service under conditions simulating war," Mr. Harrington explained.

He said no specific rule can be laid down as to what constitutes extra-hazardous service, adding that VA adjudicates each case on its own merits.

However, Mr. Harrington said, VA may consider service extra-haxardous if it is performed under conditions recognized as exceptionally dangerous, or if it involves risks beyong those ordinarily encountered in routine peacetime duties.

He said typical duties which may be adjudicated extra-hazardous include war maneuvers, operation of aircraft or submarines, parachutes jumps, demolition work work, deep-sea diving, and testing of experimental weapons.

Doty Bobcats In Quarter-Finals Here Friday Nite

By FRED DICKINSON

The Doty High Bobcats meet another East Texas power when they tangle with the Galilee High Tigers of Hallsville in the quarter-finals of the Texas Negro Interscholastic League race, Friday night.

This contest, which should be one of the best high school games in North Texas, this season, will be unreeled at Newsome Stadium, here in McKinney, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Coach Leonard Evans Jr. and his assistant, Mitchell Jackson, have been working the scrapping young Bobcats hard, this week, in preparation for this important tilt. The Hallsville team is undefeated, this season, and was un scored on until last week's bi-district clash with Grapeland which they won 19-13.

The Blue and White Bobcats, a lightweight group of youngsters, won their bi-district game with the powerful Karnack High team, 7-2. This was the first time Karnack had been scored on. Both Karnack and Hallsville are near Marshall in deep East Texas. The Hallsville lads are a big team with a liberal sprinkling of 180, 190 and 200-pounders to operate the old time single wink type attack. The team's average weight is 165 pounds.

The Bobcat squad, which has a number of sophomores in the line-up and only two seniors, weighs in at an average 156 pounds. Coach Evans, a graduate of the University of Michigan, and his assistant, Mitchell Jackson, a graduate of the University of Michigan, and his assistant, Mitchell Jackson, a graduate of Pepperdine College, in Los Angeles, have built their attack around the T-formation and spread. They have a fine passer in Charles Newman, the quarterback, and an excellent receiver in six-foot-four-inch Otis Holley, an end. The defensive play from the lightweight Bobcat line has been sensational(with Dennis Palmer, a 160-pound middle guard, leading the way along with ends Oscar Turner and Willis Harold Jones.

The hard tackling Bobcats have won 5 games and lost 2. In addition, two conference opponents simply felt they were too much to tangle with and forfeited giving the team a 7 won and 2 lost record overall. The Bobcats are in class A of the Interscholastic League race and the winner of this game meets the winner of the West vs. Vernon game in the state semi-finals. Both their losses were to Class AA opponents in non-conference games.

Sections of Newsome Field will be reserved for white fans at this week's game and a large turnout is expected to watch what should be a terrific ball game.

Annual Banquet For Celina Football Team Held There

Members of the Bobcats football team were the honorees when the pep squad and Quarterback Club were hosts at the annual football banquet, held in the high school gym there.

Principal speaker was Vernon Hallbeck, member of the physical education department at Texas Christian University, whose topic was "Public Attitude." He was introduced by Superintendent R. E. Murray.

Shirley Boren served as toastmistress for an interesting program opened with an invocation by Kenneth Simpson. Lynell Rucker gave the welcome address and Jerry Johnson, two-year letterman, quarterback and captain of this year's squad, responded.

Following a turkey dinner served by members of the Quarterback club, Coach V. R. Smith presented his football boys, pointing out the fact that five seniors will not be on the squad next year. They are Lynn Pafford, Otis May, Joe Svboda, Bobby Snorgrass and Carl Porter.

Pat Crim, Pat Laney, Diana Parish, and Linda Barker sang "Moments to Remember," accompanied by Glenda Phillips. Shirley Boren thanked the team for having elected her as 1957 football sweetheart.

Following the address by Mr. Hallbeck, Geneva Eoff, Joan Speck Nelwyn Estep, Joyce Pell and Barbara Harris sang "Tell Me Why."

Carl Perry, captain of the Quarterback Club, presented various awards. Each team member received a certificate for having played football this year. Joe Svboda received the award for most valuable player and Bobby Snorgrass the award for best linesman. The sportsmanship award went to Jerry Malone.

Coach V. R. Smith was presented gifts from the Quarterback club and from the team. Mrs. Bob Parish and Mrs. V. R. Smith received gifts from the pep squad for having spent their time and effort in working with the squad this year.

Helen Kindle gave the benediction after everyone sang the school song.

A film of the Ohio State-TCU game was shown immediately after the banquet to those who wished to see it. Others attended a dance in the band hall.

FAMOUS CHOIR TO SING HERE SUNDAY

The Austin College Choir, fresh from a prize-winning European concert tour, will be heard Sunday, December 8, in the First Presbyterian Church of McKinney.

The choir will appear under the sponsorship of the Women of the Church of First Presbyterian. The concert, at 7:30 p.m. at the church, will be open to the public.

Under the direction of Dr. Robert Wayne Bedford, founder and conductor of the choral group from the Sherman, Tex., college, the 40 student members spent five weeks last summer touring Europe. They sang in eight different countries before European and American military audiences and participated in international choral competition at Arezzo, Italy. There, singing in Italian and Latin against the best student choirs of Europe, the Austin College Choir won third place.

It's McKinney concert will be of sacred music, in which the choir has built an outstanding reputation. Its recognized excellence in the field of religious music led to its being featured in a recent album, "Music of the Church" recorded by RCA Victor for Aeolian-Skinner Co. and distributed nationally. It is also being featured on stereophonic tape recording of sacred music not yet released for public sale.

Although its summer travels marked its first European tour, in its 11-year history the Austin College Choir has appeared in cities throughout the Southwest in semi-annual concert tours. It has also sung for the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., and just before departure for Europe was featured on the coast-to-coast TV show, Dave Garroway's "Today."

The European tour, a dream of many years, became possible last spring when an anonymous donor gave the Presbyterian College funds for the trans-Atlantic travel costs "to see a Texas choir tour Europe." The AC chorus was the United States' only representative in the Arezzo competition.

Free Shrubs From Bagworns Now To Aid Landscape

You can now pick off a good chunk of next year's caterpillar population.

The caterpillars in point are the nefarious bagworms, ugly critters over-wintering as eggs in their ugly cases hanging on small trees and the lower branches of big trees.

On the small lot, picking off the cases and burning them can avoid a lot of landscape headaches next growing season, according to F. C. Carr, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Most of the backyard bagworms should be within plucking distance because of the feeding habits of the insects. They seem to prefer greenery tidbits at lower arboreal levels and rarely cluster high in tops.

The weekend gardener who rids the scenery of this visible pest at this time is not really through with the problem. Severe infestations warrant further control measures. This means chalking off the calendar to remind you to initiate a thorough spraying in late Spring or early Summer.

The hardy bagworm figuratively sneers at DDT and other common insecticides. This critter is controlled only by the heaviest doses of arsenate of lead.

At this time, don't try burning the bags out of your trees. This treatment is apt to be more fatal to the trees than the insects!

Next Year Looks Brighter For Egg Producers Of State

Decreased production and the purchase of fewer replacements for next year has resulted in a brighter outlook for egg producers.

The number of chickens raised on Texas farms in 1957 is about one-fourth less than in 1956, according to John G. McHaney, extension economist. During the first six months of 1957, production of egg-type chicks from commercial hatcheries in Texas was also about one-fourth less than that during the same period last year. Many farmers who raised chickens last year are raising none this year. The decrease is greater among the small flocks.

The laying flock on farms on January 1, 1958 in the U.S. is expected to be 6 to 8 percent smaller than a year earlier, says the specialist. During the first six months of 1957, egg prices averaged 22 percent below the same period in 1956 and farmers bought 19 percent fewer flock replacement chicks.

Recently, egg prices have shown some improvement and will probably continue to do so into 1958, because potential layers (hens and pullets of laying age plus pullets not of laying age) on farms, August 1, 1957, were 7 percent below a year earlier and 17 percent below the average.

Egg production during the last three months of this year will probably fall below the same period in 1956, points out McHaney, and we will enter 1958 with fewer layers on farms. Because of these trends, egg prices in the last three months of 1957 will ligely be above those of 1956 at the same time; and prices during the first four months of 1958 should be better than for the same period in 1957.

Former Pastor Aids Churches To Finance Building Programs

A father and son team, composed of former residents of McKinney, is now at work helping churches finance their building programs.

The "father" in the combination is Rev. D. D. Seger, former pastor of McKinney's First Baptist Church, and the "son" is Jim Seger, graduate of McKinney High School. Both father and son are graduates of Baylor University, Waco.

Rev. Mr. Seger is director of A. B. Culbertson and Company, Fort Worth, a firm which pioneered the ABC Plan of Church Building Finance. Jim is a field representative for the organization.

Rev. Mr. Seger is in charge of the firm's bond sales throughout the south, while Jim works directly with the churches financing their building programs through the sale of ABC Plan Bonds.

While in McKinney, Rev. Mr. Seger served as a member of the board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and as chairman of appropriations Committee.

Jim was an athlete at McKinney High, lettering in football and serving as a member of the basketball squad. He and his wife, who recently became parents of a son, James Dave, live at 1617 Canterbury Circle, Fort Worth.

Rev. Mr. Seger and his wife live at 4705 Blaney, Fort Worth.

The president of the firm, A. B. Culbertson, is also well-known to McKinney Baptists. For several years, he served as executive vice-president of the Texas Baptist Foundation, Dallas, and worked closely with Baptist churches in McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Shinpaugh of Fort Worth were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fielder.

Fence Row Brush Control Is Good Winter Farm Job

Worthless trees and brush along fence rows rob crops of valuable moisture and soil nutrients resulting in loss of production and lower profits for the farmer, warns G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist at A&M.

Trees have wide spreading roots thatmay reach out 100 feet from the tree trunk says Hoffman. These sapping roots rob moisture from crops and during a dry year can reduce yield on a 50 to 100 foot wide band around the field. During a wet year the damage is not so great because there is usually enough moisture for all plants.

Winter is a good time to chemically treat fence row brush, points out the specialist. Usually this is a slack season for labor, leaves are shed from the trees and weeds are dead, and it is possible to get closer to the tree, thus a better job can be done. Too, there are few susceptible broad-leaf plants growing at this time of the year which might be damaged by the chemical.

Hoffman says that an ax, a handsprayer, 2, 4, 5-T chemical and diesel oil are all the equipment and materials needed to kill fence row brush.

Mix one pound of the 2,4, 5-T liquid chemical in six gallons of diesel oil and pour the chemical solution in the handsprayer. On trees less than five inches in diameter apply the solution to the lower 12 inches of the tree trunk allowing it to run down the bark channels to the crown. Chemical solution around the crown prevents resprouting.

On trees more than five inches in diameter, a frill should be made near the ground line with the ax. Apply enough solution in the frill to make it bubble out of the cuts. If the tree is cut off, apply the solution to the freshly cut stump allowing it to run down to the crown.

A thorough application of the chemical solution is necessary for best results, advises Hoffman. "But don't apply the solution during a high wind," he warns. The cost of killing a five inch tree is about two cents.

More Water Needed As Population Continues To Grow

Expanding industry and rising standards of living require more and more water per person to satisfy the American way of life. One-fourth of the population today is troubled with water shortage, poor water, or both, reports the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The potential supply of water remains constant while needs for human use pyramid with growing population, according to the SCS From 1900 to 1950, while U. S. population doubled, total water use, other than for power, increased fourfold. By 1955 it was up another 21 percent from 1950. Water needs are expected to double again by 1975.

Average daily use for all purposes increased from 600 gallons per capita in 1900 to 1,100 gallons in 1950 and 1,300 in 1955. By 1975 the country will be using 1,800 gallons of water a day for every man, woman, and child.

Industry and irrigation are by far the largest users.

Water problems are largely watershed problems, says SCS, pointing out that water control and conservation cannot be separated from soil conservation.

Demonstrations Given For Celina Club

Mrs. Bobby Ray Martin and Mrs. Edgar Howell were the principal speakers at a meeting of the Celina Garden Club, with Mrs. Lee Ownsby and Mrs. L. Lewis as hostesses, at the home of the former.

Mrs. Martin spoke on "The Collecting and Drying of Materials for Flowers Arrangements." She said that exotic or expensive materials are not necessary for interesting and attractive arrangements, and that beautiful arrangements can be made from materials found on roadsides near Celina. She gave detailed instructions on how to collect materials, stressing the importance of searching for and selecting materials with natural, graceful curves that will give rhythm and movement to the finished design, and collecting materials in different stages of maturity.

"Many of our flowers, seed pods, grasses, and leaves," said Mrs. Martin, "are dried by nature. Others we dry by hanging them upside down in a cool, dry place. Magnolia, Photenia, and many of the broadleaf evergreens are especialpretty when processed in a mixture of one-third glycerine and two-thirds water for six weeks." She gave instructions on how to dry many garden flowers by the borax and sand method, and instructions on how to store dried materials until they are used in arrangements.

Mrs. Howell gave an interesting talk and demonstration on the use of dried materials for compositions on wooden plaques.

"Let us not forget," said Mrs. Howell, "that the purpose of flowers arranging is to contribute an additional note of cheerfulness and happiness to our home surroundings; with that in mind we make bright, colorful arrangements of our fresh flowers through spring an dsummer, but fall, and the long winter ahead, leave our gardens and our homes bare of bright color. Many people make the collecting and drying of materials a year-round activity, just so they may have interesting and colorful decorations when there are few, if any, fresh flowers to use."

Mrs. Howell said that the art of making dried arrangements dates back to the seventeenth century in America, but that recent years have seen it develop into a leading trend. Last year, dried materials were used more and more as wall decorations, as pictures and plaques. The plaques can be made suitable for any room in the house, the speaker said, and she showed o number of plaques suitable for a living room, a bedroom, a den, a kitchen, or a boy's room, and gave instructions on how to make them. Materials used weer leatrice, dock, iron weeds, yucca and various grasses and seed pods. Two unusual plaques, one a road side scene, the other a picture of a flower arrangement, had their designs worked out almost entirely of flower and vegetable seeds.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ownsby and Mrs. Lewis.

Patient's Diet Selected With Care At Local Hospital

By H. D. MOUZON

From a human being's first day on earth to his last, from the cradle to the grave, no matter how many years may intervene, one of the prime essentials of life is food. With food in proper proportions and of the right kind he has an excellent opportunity to live. Without food he dies. It's as simple as that.

Important as it is that the healthy individual receive the proper food in proper amounts, it is many times more important that the person who is ill be given carefully selected and prepared food to assist the body in its fight against disease. When this ill individual is receiving treatment in a hospital the job of seeing to it that he gets the proper food, after it has been prescribed by a physician, belongs to the dietary department of the hospital. It's not difficult, then, to arrive at the conclusion that this department is of utmost importance to the patient whose chief desire is to get well, and to the physician, whose life is dedicated to the healing of the sick.

When many people are housed in one institution food service must be organized and planned if all are to be adequately fed; and when the majority of individuals must be served in bed because of abnormal health and require special consideration fo diet, the need for careful consideration and planning is even greater. In earlier hospitals the preparation and service of food were supervised by the chef, the housekeeper or the nursing department. Later, as hospitals grew and medical techniques developed, it became necessary to give greater and more professional attention to diets. Thus, in 1899 at a National Home Economics Conference at Lake Placid, New York, the above mentioned fact was recognized and persons specializing in foods were given the title, "dietitian." In 1917, meeting at the same place, the American Dietetic Association was formed by a group of 59 dietitians, and by 1955, membership in the organization had grown to approximately 11,000. Meanwhile, hospitals and medical authorities had come to realize that patients' diets require not only skill in cooking, but scientific preparation and management as well and that only well trained dietitians could meet the need. The American College of Surgeons, in its Manual of Hospital Standardization, recognized the importance of the dietitian by stating that every approved hospital requires a well organized dietary department with a well-qualified dietitian at its head.

The function of the dietary department is to provide the best possible food at a cost consistent with the policy of the institution. To attain this goal, the director of the department establishes standards for planning menus, preparing and serving food and controlling meals. It is also the director's responsibility to assist in budget planning and control, purchasing and record keeping.

Good food, as inferred previously, is important in the treatment of the patient and is part of his total care. Science has proved that adequate nutrition hastens the recovery of patients. All these facts emphasize the important role of the department whose responsibility is to prepare this food. It is also true that hospital administration recognizes the public relations value of good food offered in variety, well-prepared and attractively served. The dietary department of all good hospitals, and this category includes McKinney's City-County hospital, are constantly striving to improve their service to patients and thus hasten the recovery of those who are ill.

The dietition works closely with the physician and with the nurse in that it is her responsibility to see to it that orders relative to the patients' food are carried out to the letter. The nurse, too, has a responsibility here and she and the dietitian must work together closely and in harmony if desired results are to be obtained. Special trays will always be the nurse's concern since they are of diagnostic and therapeutic value and she must cooperate with the dietitian in preparing and serving these in many instances.

The excessive patient load carried for a long time by City-County Hospital has made it extremely difficult for the dietary department with its crowded quarters to do the job it would like to do. In spite of this handicap, however, this department, under the capable direction of the dietitian, Mrs. W. S. Nichols, has carried on in a most efficient manner. Everyone associated with the department is looking forward to the time when they will be able to move into their new quarters in the new building now under construction. In that new building the dietary department will be adequately housed and will have at its disposal the very latest of modern equipment with which to work and to render more efficient service to those who are ill.

Recent guests of Mrs. Dow Franklin were her nieces, Mrs. Joe Aldridge and son, Herman, and Mrs. Stanley McElroy of Duncan, Okla. They were enroute home from Dallas where they spent the past week visiting a brother, John Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johns of Dallas visited Mr. and Mrs. Clell Beckham and Mr. and Mrs. Alva Johns in Blue Ridge, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Hartsell, of Marshall, were holiday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Braswell, in Blue Ridge.
